vi. Proper names and physical features	δι(ὰ) Ἀρθοώ(νιος) γραμμ(ατέως) νεκροτ(άφων)

XII. NOTES

i. Comments	The exact provenance of the text is unknown; the papyrus was found at Oxyrhynchus. The group may be the same as CAPInv. 1292 .
--------------------	--

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association	Possible
Note	The fact that the grammateus of the nekrotaphoi is indicated as such (and acting for a third person) in a text which does not seem to be specifically connected with the dealings of the nekrotaphoi may point to the fact that the nekrotaphoi constituted a well-established and locally known association. However, the group could in fact be a business firm.
