XII. NOTES

i. Comments	We cannot say if the porthmeuontes eis Erythras is the same group as the porthmeis or a subgroup of them. The office of the xenophylakes is otherwise unattested. The name of the office indicates that their function was to watch and protect the xenoi (see LSJ 9, s.v.), i.e. the foreigners who visited Chios. That is why the xenophylakes are honored by professional groups, such as the ferrymen, the shipowners and the ergastai in the harbor (cf. Robert 1929: 38, and Reger 2003: 191). Engelmann and Merkelbach take the word xenophylakes to be 'Zollbehörde'. For the dating of the eponymous prytanis Dekmos to the Augustan era see Robert 1933: 538.

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association	Certain
Note	The professional terminology of the association of ferrymen and their activity toward the xenophylakes ensures the private character of the association. The association could be conflated with the association described in CAPInv. 1924 .
