iv. Honours/Other activities	The bakcheion honoured its leader, the archimystes Prepon.

i. Local interaction	The adjective presbyteron qualifying the bakcheion means that the association identified itself as the older, and thus more distinguished, cult association of the god. Such distinctions were common markers of the competition between various cult groups in this period (see Paschidis, forthcoming).

i. Comments	The term β ακχε \hat{i} ον, bakcheion seems unattested elsewhere in Macedonia for Dionysiac thiasoi and / or associations.

i. Private association	Probable
Note	The adjective qualifying the association (presbyteron) clearly implies that this was one of several groups related to the Dionysiac cult at Stobi, and thus most probably a private association.
