i.a.	Source type(s)	Epigraphic source(s)
i.b.	Document(s) typology & language/script	Dedication in Greek by the koinon to Poseidon and Amphitrite.
i.c.	Physical format(s)	Base (W. 74 x H. 33 x. Th. 96 cm).

ii.	Leadership	Maron was the leader of the koinon (ἡρχεράνιζε IG XII.5.1 672, 1. 3).
iv.	Officials	ίερεύς, hiereus (IG XII.5.1 672, l. 1): the dedication was made in the priesthood of Nikagoras (ἐπὶ ἱερέως Νικαγόρου).
	Eponymous officials	This dating formula ( epi hiereos ) is otherwise unattested only in Syros. It seems possible that this is not an eponymous official of the city but of the association itself.

iii. Worship	The koinon set up a dedication to Poseidon and Amphitrite.
Deities worshipped	Poseidon Amphitrite

i. Comments  The provenance of the inscription has been contested. Although it was found on Syro was questioned on the grounds of the deities to which the dedication is addressed and name Maron is otherwise unattested in Syros. In light of the divinities to which addressed (Poseidon and Amphitrite), Fraser and Bean (1954: 171) attributed th (sanctuary of Poseidon in Tenos). In light of the dating formula and on the basis the eranistai are often attested in Rhodes (Poland 1909: 32), Robert (1937, 513-17), foll (2002, 276 n. 47), argued that the stone came from Rhodes or a place under Rhodian in (2003), however, has shown that Nikanor is not attested among the priests of Helios in It should be noted that there is another dedication addressed to Poseidon, which was a area in Hermoupolis (IG XII.5.1 671). This provides additional support to the view the either moved from Tenos or that a sanctuary of Poseidon may be envisaged for Syros to
