ii.	Realty	The association probably owned burial grounds.

ii.	Gender	Men
	Note	Both members buried by the association are male, as is expected from an association of archers.
iii.	Age	Adults
	Note	Given their occupation, members are adults. If the association also involved retired soldiers, potentially elders could also have been members.
iv.	Status	Probably citizens, as the archers were auxiliaries of the army.

iv. Honours/Other activities	Burial of members

XI. INTERACTION

i. Local interaction

The archers in SEG 26: 614 join the Aphrodisiastai (see CAPInv. 934) and the Aristiastai (see CAPInv. 988) to bury their member Euklidas.

XIII FVALUATION

i. Private association

Probable

Note

The taxis of archers joins two private associations for the burial of their common member, and one occasion bury one of their members by themselves. The epitaph they inscribed on the gravestone follows the formulae used by the other private associations from Tanagra.
