VII. ORGANIZATION

iii. Members	The members are communally called θιασῖται , thiasitai (l. 1).

VIII. PROPERTY AND POSSESSIONS

ii. Realty	The association presumably owned the banqueting hall (l. 1: τὸ ἱστια[τόριον] = ἑστιατόριον, ἑστιατήριον, to histiatorion, hestiatorion, hestiatieron ) that was dedicated in the present inscription.
------------	--

IX. MEMBERSHIP

i. Number	The names of 30 members (in genitive) are recorded in three columns underneath the first line of the dedication (containing the name of the association). The genitive case of the names is of difficult interpretation. The last three names in the list were added after the carving of the stone to complete the membership. BE 2013 no. 476 suggests that the membership may have possibly been a numerus clausus .
ii. Gender	Men
Note	All attested names are male names.
iv. Status	The onomastics of the members is generally Greek, with one Thracian name (Kotys) as well as with names of specifically Cretan (Pronax), Lycian and Carian (Pigres) flavour. Cf. BE 2013 no. 476.

| i. Private association | Certain  |
| Note                   | The terminology used ( thiasitai ) and the presence of a banqueting hall seem to indicate that we are dealing with a private associaiton. |
