Author: CASSANDRE HARTENSTEIN

CAPInv. 1691: U-EGY-054

i.	Geographical area	Egypt
	Nome	Assingites (00)
11.	Nome	Arsinoites (00)
iii.	Site	Tebtynis

i. Association with unknown name	U-EGY-054

i. Date(s)	250 - 210 BC

iii.	Descriptive terms	$\Box$ .wy
	Note	□ .wyl. 2, 3, 4, 7).

i.	Source(s)	P. Bagnall 42 (250-210 BC)
	Online Resources	TM 175279
i.a.	Source type(s)	Papyrological source(s)
i.b.	Document(s) typology & language/script	This Demotic papyrus contains the rules of an association linked to the cult of the god Soknebtynis.
i.c.	Physical format(s)	Light brown papyrus, 18 x 15 cm.
ii.	Source(s) provenance	The papyrus was found in Tebtynis and is now located in Berkley.

ii.	Leadership	The association had at its head a $mr m \breve{s} \square$ (1. 8).
iv.	Officials	The association had a $m\Box$ ,2a "second", a prophet of the gods ( $\Box$ $m$ - $n\Box$ $r$ $n\Box$ $n$ , $\Box$ . 8) $wA$ representative is also mentioned 1. 7 ( $r\Box$ ).
viii.	Obligations	The man chosen as representative $(r \square)$ should accept his charge or pay a fine $(1. \ 2 \ p \square \ rm \square \ n - m = n + m + m + m + m + m + m + m + m + m +$

i. Local interaction	The association may have some link with the temple of Soknebtynis in Tebynis.

i. Private association	Certain
Note	The terminology ( $\square$ . Wytypology and content of text, and the internal hierarchy of the group make it certain that this was a private association.