XII. NOTES

i. Comments

The editor of IG XII.9 attributes this inscription to the Chalkidian branch of the Dionysiac technitai. According to Aneziri (2003: 419) the inscription IG XII.9 915 possibly refers to technitai and more specifically to the Chalkidian sub-branch of the Isthmian and Nemean koinon for the following reasons:

- IG XII.9 910 attests to the presence of the Isthmian koinon in Chalkis
- the terms koinon and synodos are attested in both inscriptions (IG XII.9 910; IG XII.9 915)
- in line 2 of IG XII.9 915 Aneziri reads the name [Saty]ros, a name often borne by technitai.

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association

Probable

Note

The inscription is poorly preserved. The joint occurrence of the terms koinon and synodos (the latter partly preserved) points to a private association. See XII.i for the arguments supporting an identification with the Dionysiac technitai.
