VI. BUILT AND VISUAL SPACE

ii. References to buildings/objects The point of reference of the boundary stone (Hora, line 1--perhaps suggesting that we have here one of a series) is to private burial plots for the group: thekaia ( $\theta\eta\kappa\alpha\ell\omega\nu$ , line 1).

i. Founder(s)	Aulos Gabinios Gabinias Phileros (σὺν Αὕλωι Γαβινίωι Γαβινίως Φιλέρωτι, lines 3-6) This individual, mentioned in the name of the association, is either its founder or its leader. The name Aulus Gabinius Phileros is unique, but is that of freedman: Phileros is a common name for slaves and is retained here as a cognomen. Gabinia in the genitive indicates the name of his master as a freedman (cf. also IG ). Gabinia was presumably a woman whose father was Aulus Gabinius. The Gabinii were a famous family, perhaps the most illustrious member of which was the Aulus Gabinius who supported Pompey and gave his name to the Lex Gabinia against piracy in 67 BC. A connection of our Phileros with this family is quite possible, but remains to be demonstrated.

i. Private association	Certain
Note	Little is known about this association and its context. But simply on the basis of its name and by comparison with other highly similar boundary stones of the burial plots of associations near the city of Kos (more than 50 in number, cf. e.g. CAPI no. 1826 ), we can be confident that it constituted a private association.
