

Author: VINCENT GABRIELSEN

CAPInv. 2103: Panath[enaistan strateuo]menon en triemioliai ha onoma Eirena

[DRAFT]

I. LOCATION

i. Geographical area	Aegean Islands
ii. Region	Rhodes
iii. Site	Rhodos or Lindos

II. NAME

i. Full name (original language)	Παναθ[ηναϊστᾶν στρατευο]μένων ἐν τριημιολία ᾧ ὄνομα Εἰρήνα
ii. Full name (transliterated)	Panath[enaistan strateuo]menon en triemioliai ha onoma Eirena

III. DATE

i. Date(s)	45 BC - 23 AD
------------	---------------

IV. NAME AND TERMINOLOGY

ii. Name elements	Other:	The element systrateusamenoi ('those who had served together') belongs to a military context. It is likely connected with warship crews. For Blinkenberg's view that after 42 BC such associations of strateuomenoi lost entirely their military character, see Gabrielsen 1997, 203 n. 55. ἐν τριημιολία ᾧ ὄνομα Εἰρήνα, en triemiolia hai onoma Eirena - This name element is a reference to the trihemiolia (a warship) that the association served on.
Note	The character of the association is greatly reminiscent of other associations described as κοινὸν, koinon , although the descriptive term has been omitted in this case.

V. SOURCES

i. Source(s) ASAA 2 (1916) 142, 11 (?) - I am uncertain whether this actually refers to this association.
Lindos II 420

Online Resources ASAA 2 \(1916\) 142, 11 \(?\)
Lindos II 420

i.a. Source type(s) Epigraphic source(s)

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association Certain

Note The use of a cultic name element and the dedicatory-honourific context of the attested inscriptions make the private character of the association certain, although a descriptive term might be lacking.