XI. INTERACTION

i. Local interaction

Our association is listed together with a number of important public bodies (e.g. the Rhodian demos, the Lindian demos) and private associations. However, while all these other bodies and associations are shown to honour a member of a prominent family, that is, Lapheides, the son of the priest of Athena Lindia in AD 10, there is no explicit evidence to show that our association awarded similar honours.

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association

Certain

Note

The cultic element in the surviving part of the name makes it certain that this was a private association.
