VIII. PROPERTY AND POSSESSIONS

ii. Realty

The association had 28 arourae of land (77,175 m²), normally inundated by the flood (ἐμβροχος, embrochos) and classified as hiera ge, in two parcels around the village of Oxyrhyncha in the Polemonos meris of the Arsinoite nome (ll. 11-12). One parcel was situated near the canal (ll. 12-14), the other one near the shrine of Isis (Isieion: ll. 16-18). According to a Royal Decree (which is quoted in the papyrus in ll. 22-55: cf. CAPInv. GR-50, CAPInv. GR-51, CAPInv. GR-52, and CAPInv. GR-53) the land of certain associations, gymnasia, and politeumata, were confiscated and put to auction by the government. This is what happened to the land of this synodos: the land was sold by the State to a certain Ammonios, son of Taurinos, resident in Oxyrhyncha, who paid 5 copper talents for it (plus taxes). It is also possible that the same or another association used to own two other plots of land which Ammonios bought from the state, the purchase of which is recorded in ll. 88-99 as executed on 2 Thoth = 24 September 125 BC: there is no mention of a synodos previously owning this land, but the context of the text and the reference to the same Royal Decree regarding the confiscation and alienation of properties once belonging to associations seem to point in that direction. The land was located around the village of Oxyrhyncha: one plot was situated near the hiera ge of the temple of Sarapis and some dry land belonging to a private (ll. 91-92), the other plot (measuring one aroura, ca 2,757 m²) was near two canals, the orchard of a private, and the kleros of a hundred-arourae cleruch (ll. 93-96).

XII. NOTES

i. Comments

The fact that the association owned land around the village of Oxyrhyncha may be taken as a suggestion for the localisation of the association in that village. However, it does not constitute secure proof. The provenance of the papyrus (from crocodile mummies in the cemetery at Tebtynis) cannot provide further hints on the location of the association.

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association

Certain

Note

The terminology used (synodos) and the ownership of a real estate make it certain that we have here a private association.
