XII. NOTES

i. Comments

The text is fragmentary and the passage where the term thiasos appears (P.Köln. XI 455, l. 18) is immediately after a lacuna: this renders the exact interpretation of the term difficult. A possible reconstruction of the passage may be: [γενόμενος ἀπὸ τοῦ θιάσου εὗρον τὸν | [Μαρρήν] κτλ. [genomenos apo to]u thiasou heuron ton [Marren] etc (ll. 18-19) 'Upon my return from (a meeting of?) the association, I found Marres etc'. The petitioner was wronged by this Marres, who seems to have acted in an unlawful manner towards him (according to what can be gathered from the lacunose text, the man may have had an affair with the petitioner's wife and been caught in flagrante delicto).

XIII. EVALUATION

i. Private association

Possible

Note

Given the fragmentary state of the text, it is possible that the term thiasos indicates a private association. However, it may also indicate a festival.
