i.a.	Source type(s)	Epigraphic source(s) i.b.	Document(s) typology & language/script	Funerary inscription for a narthekophoros (TAM V.1 817, Il. 7-8) dedicated by his family, by the speira and by his association colleagues, syngeneis .
i.c.	Physical format(s)	Funerary altar
ii.	Source(s) provenance	Attaleia

iii.	Members	The members of the association are called syngeneis . For the meaning of this term as members of a syngeneia cf. comment to TAM V2, 1256. In this case, the syngeneia would be the speira .
iv.	Officials	The funerary inscription is dedicated to a ναρθηκόφορος, narthekophoros , i.e. the bearer of the stalk used as a thyrsos in the mysteries of Dionysos. He was a high official.
viii.	Obligations	The members of the association dedicate a funerary altar to their narthekophoros together with his family. The association probably had funerary obligations towards its members.

i. Treasury/Funds	The association surely had funds to accomplish its funerary obligations.

iii. Worship	The speira worshipped Dionysos, though there is no worshipping evidence concerning this speira , apart from the fact that it had a narthekophoros .
Deities worshipped	Dionysos

i. Local interaction	The narthekophoros was also π ρωτοκωμήτης, ,protokometes , 'the first of the village', what invites to assume that he had some official charges or was a benefactor of the community.

iii. Bibliography	de Hoz, MP. (1999), Die Lydischen Kulte im Lichte der griechischen Inschriften . Bonn: no. 15.1. Keil, J., and von Premerstein, A. (1911), Bericht über eine zweite Reise in Lydien ausgeführt 1908 , (Denkschriften Akad. Wien Band 54.2). Vienna.

i. Private association Note Certain The Dionysos speirai are private associations, though they often had an important public sphere.
