ii. Source(s) provenance	The papyrus was found in mummy cartonnage at Magdola (Ars.). The petitioner states that she is from the village of Alexandrou Nesos (l. 1): the association was obviously also located in the same village, since it is not stated otherwise.

VII. ORGANIZATION

ii. Leadership	ἀρχιθιασί[της, archithiasites (l. 4): the man was called Philippos.
iii. Members	Membership of the association is expressed by the verb συνθιασιτεύω synthiasiteuo : τοῦ [γὰρ ἐμοῦ ἀδελ.]φοῦ Ἀπολλοδότου συνθιασιτεύοντος αὐτοῖς, tou gar emou adelphou Apollodotou synthiasiteuontos autois (l. 2).
iv. Officials	The association had a ἱερεύς, hiereus (l. 4): his name was Dionysios.
vi. Laws and rules	The association had a θιαστικός νόμος, thiasitikos nomos (ll. 5, 9). We do not know the details of these regulations, but from the wording in ll. 4-5 (πρὸς τῷ μήτε θάψαι μήτε ἐξακολουθήσαι αὐτῷ κατὰ [τὸν θιασι]τικὸν νόμον, pros toi mete thapsai mete exakolouthesai autoi kata ton thiasitikon nomon) we can infer that they at least established that the association would take care of the burial of deceased members and would accompany their funeral. Furthermore, the payment of the taphikon , a burial indemnity, was contemplated.
ix. Privileges	According to the rules of the association, every members was entitled to a funeral which was to be attended by the other members. A burial indemnity, ταφικόν, taphikon (ll. 5, 7; verso 3) was also granted to members. In certain cases, however, what promised was not kept and the family of the deceased had to take legal action against the association.

Note

The presence of the verb συνθιασιτεύω synthiasiteuo to indicate membership, a well organised structure with an archithiasites, a hiereus, funds for the taphikon, common funerary ceremonies, and a thiasitikos nomos render certain the fact that this group was a private association.
