VII. ORGANIZATION

ix. Privileges	If, as seems very probable, the association owned a burial ground, all members were offered the possibility of being buried there.
----------------	--

VIII. PROPERTY AND POSSESSIONS

- ii. Realty It seems very probable that the association owned a burial ground, see Waltzing 1895: vol. I, 286-91.

IX. MEMBERSHIP

- i. Number Surely two attested members, Arruntius Capricornus and C. Arrius Philadelphus. Four members, if Luceia Vitalis and her mother were members as well.
- ii. Gender
Men
Women
Note Surely male members: Arruntius Capricornus and C. Arrius Philadelphus. Maybe female members too, if including Luceia Vitalis, daughter of Capricornus, and her mother Misena.
- iii. Age
Adults
Elders
Note Arruntius Capricornus was 75 years old as he died. His collega was adult or elder. His daughter (accepting she was a member of the collegium) was almost surely adult; his wife (accepting she was a member of the collegium) was adult or elder.
- iv. Status Some elements in the text indicate a lower-class status of the members, e.g. the use of the term tatula (l. 5), see Tuck 2005: 62.
- v. Relations Accepting that Luceia Vitalis and Misena were members of the association, family relations are attested.
