X. ACTIVITIES

iii. Worship	The name of the association is probably related to a purifications ritual that is attested for the cult of Men Tyrannos in Attica (CMRDM I. 13). Cf. the verb καταλούομαι ( katalouomai "purification bath or washing") in TAM V.1 217, 467 and 326, this last one a confession inscription of somebody who didn't follow the command of the goddess Anaitis and κατελούσεται ( katelouseto , "did the ritual purification bath"). Cf. also Petzl, Beichtinschriften 36, where another person was punished by the god for going up the stage (in the temple?) ἀκατάλουστος ( akataloustos , "without having performed the purification bath or washing").
Deities worshipped	Men Axiottenos (TAM V.1 490) Meter (Theou?), Men Tiamu and Men Petraeites (TAM V.1 351); probably also Anaitis (cf. TAM V.1 326), whose purification rituals with water are attested.
iv. Honours/Other activities	TAM V.1 351: a priestess of Men Axiottenos is honoured for her pious behavior towards the gods, her desire to do well to all people, dedicating all her life to the god without the desire of gain.

XI. INTERACTION

i. Local interaction	The cults of Men and Anaitis are very well attested in the area. This association was surely a well known and important association in relation to these gods. See the high number of members attested.

XII. NOTES

i. Comments	The associations mentioned in both inscriptions may be two different branches of the same association, though the places of provenance are not far from each other, so that it could be the same association or associations branch.
